

terra legno
Engineered Wood Flooring

terra legno Engineered Wood Flooring's Internet Policy terra legno Engineered Wood Flooring has a proud history of manufacturing extraordinary fine quality architectural wood flooring. We are passionate in our commitment to provide our valued customers the finest hardwood flooring products, with the best customer service they have experienced. A key element in providing terra legno's customer superior service expectations is the support and efforts of our "brick and mortar" distribution networks in your area.

terra legno's distribution network has proven to be the most effective selection process where one can directly interact with knowledgeable design oriented sales people, and have the opportunity to closely review terra legno samples you wish to purchase. We feel this process is in the best interest of providing a superior level customer satisfaction which would not be attainable if conducted over the internet, or an e-commerce transaction.

terra legno Engineered Wood Flooring does not endorse the sale and promotion of our flooring products via the internet, e-commerce, or third party transactions. All terra legno products that are sold via the internet, e-commerce, or third party transactions automatically voids terra legno's manufacturer's warranties. A terra legno distributor, or retailer that is found to be selling terra legno products via the internet, or engaging in any unauthorized use of terra legno's name trademarks, and logos in advertising or sales will be requested to desist in compliance with the above-mentioned policy. If the party does not honor terra legno's policy, terra legno will suspend all future sales to the party, and move forward with all appropriate legal measures.

Representing and the promotion of terra legno products in a sound responsible manner is in our best mutual interests. Thank you, we appreciate your support and cooperation.